

Ghana supports sexuality education in schools.

The challenge is the focus on abstinence-only education, which is found to be ineffective.

3/4 of surveyed students aged 15-17 were taught:

- to not have sex before marriage
- that sex is dangerous for them

University of
Cape Coast